

Escape

by Stephen M. Golden

Copyright © 1986

Verse 1

Up each morning, work each day. You think,
“There must be a better way.”
Your mind begins to wonder if you are right.
Troubles linger, feel the pain. Each empty day is just the same.
Your mind says, “What’s the purpose to this life?”

Chorus:

Escape, escape from the world that you live in.
You spend most of your time trying to escape.
Escape, escape from your life’s empty vision.
You spend most of your life trying to escape.

Verse 2

Troubled people everywhere. You need some help, but no one cares.
You’re off to find some comfort by yourself.
A little rest, it ends too soon. Your fantasy stays in your room.
The peace you’re really seeking never comes.

Chorus:

Escape, escape from the world that you live in.
You spend most of your time trying to escape.
Escape, escape from your life’s empty vision.
You spend most of your life trying to escape.

Verse 3

Drown your sorrows, float your fears, play blasting music in your ears.
Your troubles are forgotten, no more pain.
Get so easy, get so high, like kissing your whole world goodbye.
But when you finally wake up, your problems still remain.

Chorus:

Escape, escape from the world that you live in.
You spend most of your time trying to escape.
Escape, escape from your life’s empty vision.
You spend most of your life trying to escape.

Verse 4

Go to movies, see the shows. For kicks, you wear outlandish clothes.
You search for something different, always something new.
The fads and fashion change each day. Unsatisfied, but still you pay.
Are you enjoying it, or is it enjoying you?

Verse 5

There's only one relief in this life. One source of peace that you will find.
The way is Jesus Christ, He'll be your escape.
Give up this world's empty game. Joy is found in Jesus name.
Stop looking away, He is your escape.
(Please don't turn away, He is your escape)

Chorus:

Escape, escape from the world that you live in.
You spend most of your time trying to escape.
Escape, escape from your life's empty vision.
You spend most of your life trying to escape.

Final Chorus:

Escape, escape from the world that you live in.
You spend most of your time trying to escape.
Escape, escape from your bondage of sin.
Jesus, your passage to escape.